2010/2011 Wedding Information & Price List

All Digital Packages

Since the advent of Digital Photography we have found that more and more couples wish to have full control of their wedding photographs. They no longer want the traditional wedding album that will be filed away and never to be looked at. They want to be able to view their photographs whenever and wherever they are, be it on their home computer, on facebook, their iPod or mobile phone.

Lee Marshall Photography are the first and only photographers in the area that offer dedicated all digital packages, specifically designed to your requirements.

What is included?

Between two and four weeks before the big day, your photographer will visit the bride and groom at home to discuss and plan the photography during the wedding, including the style of photography required, particular photographs required of special guests etc.

Your photographer will then attend the brides home one hour before she is due to be collected by the wedding car. He will take some family and individual shots either in the home or garden and capture those final moments of single life.

Photographs will then be taken at the Church or Wedding Venue in the style of your choice, formal, reportage, or a combination of both.

More photographs will be taken at the Reception Venue usually in a reportage style. The total amount of photographs you should receive is normally in the region of 150-300 images however this is dependent on the package chosen, the length of the wedding and the weather conditions. We do not impose any artificial limits on the amount of photographs we take.

Your DVD-ROM of the photographs taken will usually be posted out to you between three and four weeks after the wedding.
